

The University Connection

Of course Ohio University and Hocking College graduate hundreds of skilled, highly trained young professionals every year. But the university also pulls experienced pros from all over the country to our little corner of Ohio. The Ohio University Dual Career Network pairs employers up with spouses of new faculty hires.

Where to Find Quality Employees:

➔ Ohio Means Jobs

This Web site has compiled electronic job opportunities from all of the major commercial job boards, niche industries, national and Ohio fortune 100 companies, and state of Ohio jobs all into one convenient location to help you find the right job in less time. Employers have the opportunity to search the resumes for free.

➔ Career Connections

This private employment agency provides personalized and flexible staffing services to make the process of hiring hassle-free, efficient and safe. Specific client needs may be better satisfied by utilizing one of the services or a combination of them. Before an applicant is placed in either a temporary or permanent job, Career Connections has conducted a personal interview, completed skills assessments, obtained at least two positive employment references and completed appropriate background checks (criminal, credit and/or driving). At times, Career Connections can run blind ads for companies.

➔ Ohio University Career Services Office

OU provides numerous resources for its students, faculty and area employers to employ students while attending college and after attending.

OU Career Fair
